

Balancing Employment and Benefits

You can work and maintain your benefits

If you receive benefits from the federal government or other forms of public assistance, choosing to go to work is a big decision. Maintaining some or all of your benefits and supplementing your income is possible with appropriate benefits counseling.

Work Incentives Planning and Assistance (WIPA) is a program that provides benefits counseling to recipients of SSI/SSDI so you can better understand your benefits and the effect earnings may have on those benefits. To receive WIPA services, you must be receiving SSI/SSDI.
